The Funds are actively managed by DJE and, where a benchmark index is indicated, without reference to it. The presented charts and tables concerning performance are based on our own calculations according to the gross performance (BVI) method² and illustrate past development. Past performance is not indicative for future returns. The BVI method takes into account all costs incurred at the fund level (e.g. management fees), the net performance and the issue fee. Additional individual costs may be incurred at the customer level (e.g. custodian fees, commission and other charges). Model calculation (net): an investor wishes to purchase shares for Euro 1,000. With a maximum issue surcharge of 1.00%, he has to spend a one-off amount of Euro 10.00 when making the purchase. In addition, there may be custodian costs that reduce performance. The custodian costs are decided by your bank's price list and service charges

Investment Approach

The focus is on bonds with short residual maturities, good liquidity and high-quality credit ratings. The strategy focuses on corporate and government bonds, mortgage bonds, profit participation certificates, zero-coupon bonds and variable-interest debt instruments. The DJE - Short Term Bond achieves a low currency risk by investing predominantly in EUR securities, whereby part of the fund assets can also be invested in foreign currency bonds. Active duration management using interest rate derivatives and management of residual maturities reduces the risk of interest rate changes. The balanced portfolio and the investment horizon geared to short maturities intends to avoid major fluctuations in the strategy and achieve a stable performance.

Monthly Commentary

The bond markets were volatile in April. The US economy grew by 1.6% in the first quarter compared to the previous quarter - weaker than expected, but significantly stronger than the eurozone, whose economy grew by 0.3% and was thus able to avoid a technical recession. The stock markets were weighed down by the fact that hopes of an imminent cut in key interest rates in the USA in view of the further rise in inflation (from 3.1% to 3.5% in March) turned into expectations that the current interest rate plateau would have to be maintained for some time to come. For the eurozone, however, the markets continue to expect a first rate cut in June, as inflation is still on the retreat here - the inflation rate stagnated at 2.4% in April and core inflation fell from 2.9% to 2.7% (both compared to the same month last year). However, with the correction on the equity markets, most bonds performed negatively: yields on European corporate bonds rose by 26 basis points and those on US corporate bonds by 43 basis points. US high-yield bonds also yielded 45 basis points higher at 8.11%. High-quality government bonds also performed negatively: 10-year German government bonds yielded 19 basis points higher at 2.58% and their US counterparts 38 basis points higher at 4.68%. European high-yield bonds were a positive outlier, benefiting from the continued intact expectations of interest rate cuts in the eurozone. Their yield fell by 61 basis points to 6.95%. In this market environment, the DJE - Short Term Bond fell by -0.13%. The fund's performance was negatively impacted by the broad rise in yields across almost all bond types. The devaluation of the Mexican peso also weighed on the fund's performance. On the other hand, the fund benefited from the appreciation of the US dollar against the euro. Over the course of the month, the fund management purchased a short-dated US corporate bond from the financials sector as well as short-dated US Treasury Bills. In return, it sold euro-denominated corporate bonds from the energy and telecommunications sectors. No new issues were subscribed as there were hardly any bonds with short maturities on offer. As a result of the adjustments, the fund's investment ratio fell slightly from 97.13% to 96.10%. In addition, the fund management reduced the modified duration of the portfolio (including derivatives and cash) from 2.23% to 1.99%.
